

Webalo®

The App for Enterprise®

Enterprise Apps in Minutes

Webalo makes mobile enterprise connectivity easy, fast, and affordable, letting you securely connect mobile users to the enterprise applications they need most. Configure Webalo in minutes to deliver secure transactional mobile access to enterprise applications, giving your mobile employees fast access to the data and operational intelligence they need to do their jobs.

Compared to traditional mobile application development, Webalo can be deployed 100x faster at a fraction of the cost. By eliminating development software and its accompanying overhead, Webalo dramatically reduces the burden on IT. It's simple enough for anyone to master, and powerful enough to let users perform the tasks they need directly from their smartphones and tablets. Webalo helps you extend the value of your enterprise applications and leverage the full potential of mobile technology.

Secured with AppConnect

Because Webalo is pre-integrated with the MobileIron Mobile IT platform, it comes enabled with MobileIron AppConnect, providing the ultimate in security and flexibility for your data. AppConnect gives you the ability to easily secure data on mobile devices — whether owned by the company or the user. And because your data security is containerized to the specific apps your employees use, security policies can be targeted to your most critical data.

Effortless deployment

Thanks to Webalo's intuitive point-and-click, cloud-based configuration platform, you can mobilize and secure your enterprise data and applications in minutes on iOS and Android. Webalo's self-service platform provides deployment options either in the cloud or behind the firewall.

DATA SHEET

Webalo for Mobile IT

Webalo is now integrated with MobileIron. AppConnect apps can leverage a policy framework that provides advanced authorization, configuration, and data security capabilities including:

Provide fast, reliable mobile access to IBM, Microsoft, Oracle, SAP, Salesforce.com and more, or custom-built, in-house applications. Webalo lets you easily deliver access to these applications individually, or combine functionality and information from multiple applications to give mobile users access to the data and functions they need to maximize their productivity.

Webalo with AppConnect Features:

- Simple deployment – Deploy Webalo in minutes using the cloud-based configuration platform.
- Multi-platform, multi-device – Provide mobile access to IBM, Microsoft, Oracle, SAP, Salesforce.com and more with one solution. Plus, you can give access to users whether they're on iOS or Android, smartphone or tablet.
- Centralized control – Manage it all from a single, intuitive control panel.
- Deep Integration – As part of the AppConnect ecosystem, native app leverages the security capabilities and controls provided by MobileIron to ensure a secure and controlled app environment without disrupting the end-user experience
- Secure Data Removal – If a user violates an app or device policy, the app, the container and all its data can be “selectively wiped” without erasing the entire device.
